MISSION STATEMENT OF THE PPSC DIVERSITY, EQUITY, AND INCLUSION COMMITTEE:

The PPSC Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) Committee is committed to using the foundational tenets of psychoanalysis in order to create a culture in which teaching, learning, supervision, and treatment take place in an atmosphere enriched by mutual respect, affirmation, and celebration of all differences. The field of psychoanalysis is founded on the premise that our own personal history informs the present, and that through acknowledging, knowing, and examining our history, we become more conscious of how we perpetuate the past. In that spirit, the DEI Committee endeavors to introduce within the frame of our psychoanalytic work the living legacy of past and present sociopolitical contexts. This includes, but is not limited to, acknowledging, examining, and repairing past and present trauma of the colonialism, racism, and genocide upon which the United States was founded. We are also committed to expanding our conceptions of gender and sexuality by radically challenging society's rigid, static, and binary regulation of these identities and expressions. Our philosophical and practice goals are to extend our reach and draw from the full cultural range of the local and global community in which we are deeply enmeshed. Through a combination of experiential introspection, intellectual learning, and informed outreach, the mission of the DEI Committee is to create a sustainable culture of ongoing questioning, learning, and openness at PPSC that will carry us beyond our current limits.

PPSC's Child and Adolescent Therapy Training Program supports and adheres to the above mission statement.
